

Wayne Brasher Memorial

Wayne got his first racing license in 1956. He galloped for and worked under some of the best trainers at the time. He always had time and a smile for anyone in need. Wayne loved his horses and cared deeply for the people he worked with on the track. He mentored lots of young trainers, grooms and jockeys along the way. Thus the nick name of "Papa Bear" which people still refer to day. One of his greatest training accomplishments was a horse called "Pies Royal Request" who won 14 consecutive races which tied the world record. The media referred to the two of them as "Pie and his Guy". Wayne also trained other world champions "Sign it Super" and Rylees Boy". Wayne was inducted into the AQRA Racing Hall of Fame in 1991. Wayne officially retired from racing because of a lung disease. He passed away June 8, 2015. The family wishes to thank everyone for honoring his memory today.
